Harry Potter play, the story continues

BY ESTELLE SHIRBON REUTERS

LONDON — A new play that opens in London next summer will pick up the story of Harry Potter where the seventh and final volume of J.K. Rowling's saga left off, with a plot involving a grown-up Harry and his youngest son, Albus.

"Harry Potter and the Cursed Child," based on a new story part-written by Rowling, opens at the Palace Theatre in London's West End district on July 30, 2016, publicists for the production said Friday.

The play will be in two parts, which are intended to be seen in order on the same day or on two consecutive evenings. An initial 16 weeks of performances will go on sale in the first booking period, which starts Oct. 30.

Publicists have been releasing a drip-drip of information over several months in what appears to be a strategy to tantalize fans, though commercial success for the venture looks extremely likely regardless of any marketing efforts.
