DNA test suggests husband is British, Spanish

Yes, I know William the bringing in Acadian genes. Conqueror was French, but that accounts for French genes crossing the English Channel. Who are the Brits — and there would seem to be a few of them who rowed in the opposite direction for the purpose of tilting my to 51 percent British? Moreover, he also is described as having 33 percent ancestry from the Iberian Peninsula, which is Spain and Portugal.

mate through AncestryDNA

So, am I convinced of Gaelen Saucier's new identity?

More than 35 years of genealogical research into my husband's Saucier-Chamberland ancestry convinces me that he is as Franco-American as you can get. All 16 of his great-great-grandparents are Franco — most of them French-Canadian from Quebec, with his Theriault line

We have many more pedigree charts for his side of the family than for mine, and all those immigrant ancestors in the 1600s and 1700s are from France. I think we found one connection to Switzerland.

So what's the deal? Was the test just defective? There are other explanations.

First, this kind of genetic testing is not a scientific representation of one or more countries as a whole. Obviously, it's not done randomly, as a well-done political poll would be, for example.

This testing represents those who participate — the same way a TV or newspaper question of the day does. It draws participation by those who are interested in it—and genealogy over the years has traditionally involved countless people of British ancestry, because of the availability of published works that support that kind of research.

British in this sense refers to England, Scotland and Wales, according to the AncestryDNA website, but the map shows a larger "circle' which overlaps a good section of western France, including the city of Paris, the hometown of the Saucier ancestors.

The description of Iberian Peninsula includes Spain and Portugal, but the "circle" on this map for ethnic ancestry overlaps a section of southern

One of the features that this testing offers is a list of participants — not by name who share some ancestry. My test a year ago listed several entrants that were as close as fourth cousins, and some of these included pedigree charts that allowed me to survey them to see where our lines intersected.

Gaelen's testing claims to offer a list of entrants as close as second or third cousins. I looked at just a few of these that included pedigree charts, and did indeed find some Saucier lines — thus confirming that part of my research. As time permits, I will look at more charts and see what else I find.

What I had expected to see in the estimate of my husband's ethnic ancestry was the category called Europe west, which includes France and Germany.

So I need to look at pedigree charts, and it would be good if I read up on some more history.

Am I less enthusiastic about these $100 DNA testing programs now? I would say so, but I am open to learning more and possibly trying some others as time goes on. We are still in the early stages of affordable DNA testing, I believe.

In 1979, home pregnancy tests were new on the market and took two hours for the result to develop. My "negative" pregnancy test is now 36.

On that note, how did 2015 go so fast? It won't be long until Bangor Public Library reopens. The date has been moved from Jan. 4 to Jan. 11, so we will look forward to

I wish you many blessings in the New Year, and may we all have good luck in uncovering more ancestors.

WAYNE D. DOW

DOVER-FOXCROFT Wayne Douglas Dow (The Trout Man), 65, passed away peacefully at his home, with family by his side, on Wednesday, December 23, 2015. He was born February 25, 1950 in Dover-Foxcroft, Maine, to the late Ralph Dow, Sr., and Lucy (Stanhope) Dow.

He attended grade school in Sebec and high school at Foxcroft Academy (Class of 1969), where he participated in the football and track & field programs. Wayne loved that he grew up in Sebec Village and had many stories of all the good times spent swimming at the bridge, hanging out with the boys at the Rat's Nest, and playing softball with the Stump Jumpers. After graduation, he enlisted into the Army, where he had many fond memories of his time stationed in Alaska. After returning home, he worked as a painter for many years, then worked at Goulette's IGA, in Guilford, until his retirement. Wayne was a fun loving guy, never needing or asking for much, and always looked for a good time, a COLD Bud, trout streams, and a breath of fresh air. He loved to laugh and kept eving. He also had a love for cats, loved to cook, and was a huge fan of the New York Giants and the Boston Red Sox. His pride and joy was his son Seth.

He is survived by his wife, Karen (Melia) Dow of Dover-Foxcroft, with whom he enjoyed 21 years with; his son, Seth Thomas Dow and girl-Vikki Holtby, of Saranac Lake, NY; his brothers, David Dow and wife, Kathy, of Barnard, Ralph Dow, Jr., and wife, Lynette, of Milo, Andrew Dow and wife, Carol, of Lagrange, Danny Dow and wife, Gail, of Sebec, Benjamin Dow and wife, Susan, of Sebec; his sister, Annette, and husband, Mark Richardson, of Sebec; stepdaughter, Marlina Richards of Charleston, and three step-grandchildren, Matthew, Trevor, and Nathan; mother-in-law, Mary Melia of Dover-Foxcroft; father-in-law, Malcolm Melia of Monson; five sister-inlaws; many nieces and nephews. He also leaves behind his lifelong best friend, David Mallett, of Sebec; and his beloved cats, Apollo and

In addition to his parents, he was predeceased by a sister, Dottie; and his brother, Harold Pratt.

The family would like to thank his hospice caregiver, Pam Richardson, for her kind and compassionate care.

A gathering to remember, share stories, and laugh with family and friends will be held on Saturday, January 2, 2016, at 2:00 p.m., at the Reading Room in Sebec Vil-

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Wayne's name to PAWS Animal Shelter, 39 Clinton St., Milo, Maine.
