Ron, also known to many as "Barney" and "Ole Dead Eye," came from humble beginnings to retire after 38 years from Great Northern Paper Co. in East Millinocket as a Pipefitter. Ron's favorite pastime was playing cribbage in local tournaments and also tried to be the annual champ vs. his son at his favorite hunting camp "Todd's Lodge." Ron loved to hunt, and was known to be a crack shot (to which his nickname "Ole Deadeye" came about). He looked forward to the annual poker night at his brother's hunting camp "Buckhorn North." Fishing and 4 wheeling with his family were very special times for him. Ron enjoyed watching the Red Sox and Patriots, but sometimes joked that he would "root for who was in first place" just to get everyone riled up. Ron had such a big heart and would gladly give the shirt off his back for anyone in need. He lived for his wife, kids, and grandkids, and had a special place in his heart for his dogs "Sassy" and "Blue Boy."
