UMaine looking for new assistant women's ice hockey coach

ORONO —Kendall Newell, an assistant coach for the University of Maine women's ice hockey team for the past two years, has left to become the manager of female hockey in Alberta.

This will give her an on-

This will give her an opportunity to be much closer to her husband, Jean Luc Deck, whom she married right before she took the Maine job. He works on the oil pipelines in Alberta.

"This was more of a family decision. He's working up in Edmonton and I'm living in Red Deer, which is an hourand-a-half drive," she said.

She said her job is a newly created one so there will be a "figuring out" process.

"Basically, I'll be responsible for developing the game, the athletes, the coaches and officials as well as recruiting new athletes," said Newell, who spent six years in Alberta prior to coming to Maine, including four years coaching at the Banff Hockey Academy.

The 30-year-old Newell said she "loved" her time at Maine where she did the majority of the recruiting and was in charge of working with goalies and defensemen.

"It's sad to see her go. It's hard to find real good people who had experience as a head coach, could run clinics and could work with goalies and defensemen. She's a great girl. The players loved her," said Reichenbach, who hopes to name her replacement within two weeks.
