

Knowledge a powerful weapon in the fight against cancer

BY ELLIE FOSTER, MPH
HEALTH EDUCATOR

MAINEHEALTH LEARNING RESOURCE CENTER

Ellie Foster

Being diagnosed with cancer is hard. Finding information shouldn't be.

With so much health information available online, it can be difficult to know where to turn when you need answers to your questions. Wouldn't it be nice to visit one website to get all the information you need from a source you trust? That's why we created the MaineHealth Cancer Resource Center website at MaineHealthCancer.org.

Our website focuses on only one thing: cancer. We are your resource for the most up-to-date, credible information on cancer care, including prevention, diagnosis, treatment and survivorship.

Looking for screening events and classes near you? You'll find it on our events page.

Need to read up on how to prevent cancer? You'll find helpful tips and credible information on our site.

And if you can't find what you are looking for, our contact information is on every page. A professional health educator is only a phone call or email away. Send us an email or give us a call, and we will connect you with the information you need.

You also can learn about who can support you during your cancer journey. There is a complete list of hospitals and support services, and you can search for a doctor by specialty and zip code. Learn about support groups in your area. Get connected with tools designed to help you understand what treatments and procedures may be best for you.

We're here to make sure you have the best information in one place so you can focus on your health, not your health information needs.

A new feature of our website is our blog, CancerSavvy. This is a great place for you to read more about important cancer topics in an easy to understand way. If you are looking to read personal stories, learn more about important prevention information and connect with top cancer experts in Maine, this blog is for you.

Sometimes hearing from others who understand what you are going through can make all the difference. Our team works hard to make sure you get a wide variety of cancer information from many different viewpoints.

Everyone impacted by cancer has a story. CancerSavvy is here to help tell it. If you have a story to tell about your experience with cancer, connect with us! We'd love to hear from you. Email us at CancerInfo@mainehealth.org.

The MaineHealth Cancer Resource Center website is the one simple, trusted source for everything you need to know about cancer in Maine. Visit us at MaineHealthCancer.org.

In the fight against cancer, knowledge is a powerful tool.

The MaineHealth Cancer Resource Center is your resource for the most up-to-date, credible information on cancer care including prevention, diagnosis, treatment and survivorship. No one wants to hear that they or someone they care about has cancer, but now there is a place where you can find reliable cancer information that is close to home.

MaineHealth
Cancer Resource Center

www.MaineHealthCancer.org

1-866-206-9959

100 Campus Drive, Scarborough, Maine