Tent Camping

It is with great pride that for over 80 years Maine has been able to call itself "Vacationland." The best of the outdoors is offered here in Maine, and no matter the reason or the season, there will never be a shortage of outdoors to enjoy in Maine.

It is rare to find a person who's camping experience does not include at least one or more nights in a tent. As a style of camping, it's all in the name and the experience is up to the camper. Tent camping is an affordable, fun and uncomplicated way to enjoy all that camping has to offer. Nearly 180 of our Maine Campground Owners Association members from all the Maine tourism regions offer tent camping.

Full-Service Family Campgrounds and RV Resorts

Maine's reputation as the great outdoors allows campgrounds to offer every style of camping available today. And there are several. It simply depends on one thing, you and what you are looking to get out of your Maine camping experience. When beginning your search, it may be smart to start with a quick review of camping styles to see which suits your specific needs.

Looking for a campground that offers more options and amenities? This may be the style you are seeking. With more focus on the facilities and amenities of a camping trip, a full-service family campground or RV resort appeals to the camper who is interested in roughing-it, but with style. Here you'll find campers who bring their tent, pop-up campers, or hardtops. Resorts like this are quite popular with owners of larger recreational vehicles (RVs) and fifth wheels. Full-service campgrounds are a great option for families because they often offer extra amenities such as a pool, game room, nighttime entertainment and other fee-based services. It is this kind of camping experience that is the primary focus of the majority of our members.
