Own it.

"Our most precious commodities are our kids and our time. So depositing a check in my living room saves me upwards of 15 minutes a day—having that time in our day is priceless to us."

— Mark Campbell, father of six children, said about mobile deposit capture offered by his credit union

In a credit union, members are owners. That means low rates and fees, great terms, and decisions made locally by some of the best listeners in the business. Plus, you get the latest in technology and convenience.

No wonder more than 660,000 Maine people choose to belong to credit unions.

Use a credit union and own it.
