

Bucksport Bay Festival and Civil War Re-enactment

Three days of fun stuff in beautiful Bucksport, a community that, despite, recent economic losses, remains a charming, friendly coastal town. A craft fair, games, music, animals, Civil War re-enactments all weekend at nearby Fort Knox, set for July 24-26. For more information, visit bucksportbaychamber.com.

The Alamo Theatre, Bucksport

In celebration of The Alamo's centennial, the theater will be showing films from each decade it's been open, including a Hitchcock double feature July 17, and "Sound of Music" Aug. 21. For showtimes and more info, visit oldfilm.org.

Medieval Tournament, Fort Knox State Park

The 15th annual Medieval Tournament, a renaissance fair sponsored by the local Barony of Endeweard features jousting, songs, costumes, games and more Sept. 10 at Fort Knox State Park in Prospect. Advanced tickets may be purchased at the Friends of Fort Knox gift shop or by calling 469-6553.

Alison Chase/Performance

Alison Chase/Performance and the Atlantic Clarion Steel Band team up to present Dancing with Steel en Plein Air, a world-class dance and music in a series of pop-up performances inspired by the coast of Maine. From July 25 to Aug. 4, the series will travel to seven different sites, starting in a field on Penobscot Bay and ending in Portland's Congress Square Park. This series features family friendly repertoire favorites and new works that bring humor, illusion, and athleticism to unique impromptu venues. All shows begin at 5 p.m. For dates and locations, visit alisonchase.org.
